

Give kids a chance to walk and play

Dear Friend,

Thousands of kids around the world need your help. Thanks to donations from generous individuals like you, children and adults in urgent medical need have been given the chance for a normal life. Still, thousands more depend on us.

“The hardest part about living with hemophilia is to have a bleed and realize that my parents can’t afford the blood treatment because one of my brothers just had a bleed that drained the family finances.”

Jeffrey Anthony D. Magsuci, Philippines

The World Federation of Hemophilia delivers life-saving treatment to children around the world, like Jeffrey. Because of your support, Jeffrey can now run and jump around with his cousins and classmates. Hemophilia was not the end of his world.

Untreated, hemophilia can prevent children from enjoying activities as simple as walking.
